

Kindergarten News from Miss Bower's Class
November 8, 2013

Our Week!

This week we took some time to discuss non-fiction and why we read it. I explained to the kiddos that we read non-fiction texts to learn something new. It is a kind of book that is filled with true information. We focused on bats and learned many things about them through our non-fiction read aloud. Ask your child about echolocation, what nocturnal means, or how bats sleep! This is only some of the information we learned 😊

In math we worked with measurement towers and measured things around the room to see if they were shorter or longer than our towers. We also started talking about what it means to compare two objects or numbers. I hope you have a wonderful weekend!

Don't forget: NO SCHOOL on Monday! 😊

Homework

Tom Turkey!

This can be sent in any time
on or before 11/15

Clifford is going home with,
Angelica!

Some of the Great Read Alouds from this Week!

Stellaluna– Janell Cannon

Bats and Their Homes–
Deborah Chase Gibson

Save the Date!

On December 16th, at 1:45 in the afternoon, our class will be singing in a Holiday Program with 3 other kindergarten classes. More details and information will be given as the date gets closer! This is a very special event that I hope all can attend. If you can, please save the date!

Art smocks were sent home to be washed!! Please send them back on Tuesday!!

Important Dates:

November 11 – Veteran's Day–

NO SCHOOL!

November 25– Evening

Conferences

November 26– Morning

Conferences, NO SCHOOL

November 27–29– NO
SCHOOL

Conferences

If you have not signed up for a conference there is still time! I have open slots on Tuesday November 26th at 8:25 and 8:50 or Monday, November 25th at 5:20.

Conferences are 20 minutes long. I will send out reminders next week with the dates you have signed up for!