Our first, full week!

Wow! We made it through our first full week of kindergarten! This week we explored many routines around our Reading, Writing and Math Workshops.

We have been learning about all of our friends this week and started to learn about colors, letters, and numbers. We will continue this next week. We will also be exploring the book Chicka Chicka Boom Boom, and looking closely at the letters in our names.

This week we have also been practicing our fire and bus drills while learning how to be safe inside and outside of school. I am so proud of all of my students for becoming independent and making it through their first, full week!

Next week, we will start going to the library and will go every other Wednesday. Students will be allowed to take out one book and it will need to be returned by the due date. I will send their library books home with them so you can read at home! ☺

Have a wonderful weekend!

Chicka Chicka Boom Boom Snack!

On Friday, we will be having a Chicka Chicka Boom Boom snack. If anyone would like to donate any items please let me know! We need grapes, vanilla wafer cookies, apples and ABC pretzels. If you are willing to donate please send in a note and I will let you know what to send in! Thank you! 😊

FYI

Our newsletters will be posted on our class website in the future! As I am finishing up the final touches, I decided to send home a paper newsletter this week. Next week I will send home the link to the website with your child. 😊

Rest Towels

Rest towels were sent home this weekend. Please wash them and send them back to school on Monday! We will probably only need them for another week or so 😊
